

With today's technology, the public can easily gain information about products and services and the companies that market them. I feel it is not necessary to solicit consumers through telephone calls. Consumers' desire for respect of privacy is demonstrated by the sheer volume of names on the list. I would not like to see changes made to New Jersey's Telephone Consumer Protection Act.